Readers of this copy of College Quarterly will no doubt be surprised by the range of the activities which are covered by this edition. It is one of the enviable tasks of the Editor, Mrs Wendy Gratwick, of having to select the material for each edition from a very wide range of interesting College activities. In essence, one can only build up a genuine picture of the College by reading several editions together and in conjunction with that other fine publication, Columba. In that sense I will leave you to look through this edition and to savour its quality and its range as merely representational of the rich tapestry that All Saints’ College has become.

When I interview students and parents for potential places at the College, I always emphasise the wide variety of the non-compulsory extra-curricular programme of the College as representative of the opportunities which exist for young people at the College. We live in an age where politicians and bureaucrats see regulations as the solution to some of society’s problems. Here at All Saints’ we would prefer to emphasise the concept of opportunity as a more creative solution to the needs of young people in their search for identity, for self-expression and creative outlets which are acceptable to society. I am sure that nearly all of our students benefit from the extra opportunities that exist at the College. The pages of this edition will surely stand testament to that.

We are constantly prompted by the changes in society to provide relevant and useful challenges to the students and for the students. This sometimes seems adversarial and therefore the development of creative outlets and joyous times is also something that we take seriously. Such activities as the Junior School Sing-along, Junior School Chapel, The Friends of Music Concert and the Senior School House Barbecues are fine examples of these types of activities where we assemble together to enjoy each other’s company. I sincerely hope that these kinds of activities will continue to flourish at the College.

In the next edition I hope that we will report in detail on some of the camps from Camp Week, the progress on the Administration building, the two new Senior Houses, the further development of the Chapel wall hangings and lots more.

Until then, I hope that you enjoy reading through these pages and taking in some of the threads and stitches of our ‘tapestry’.

Last year a group of Year Ten students solved the problem: "Design and make an indicator that will measure wind speed and direction". There was a strong sailing bias in the design as can be seen from the photograph. During Design Technology class students modelled the 'real thing' out of mild steel. The finished objects move freely on bearings in the central column and were declared a success as they received their first public appearance for the photographic session.

The works of art featured on the front and back covers of this issue of College Quarterly are currently on show at the Art Gallery of Western Australia. They were selected as part of the Year Twelve Perspectives Exhibition, an annual event which recognises the achievements of Year Twelve TEE Art students from the previous year.

The students responsible for the paintings are:
Front Cover: Amir Meshgin (two smaller illustrations), Michael Kelly (the larger illustration).
Back Cover: Katherine Brown's work is already familiar to many College families as it was featured on the front cover of Columba 1993, the College Yearbook.

The exhibition runs until 22 May 1994.

Star light, star bright, not a star was seen that night! Thanks to tropical cyclone 'Sharon', Perth skies were totally clouded over for our recent Astronomy Night on Saturday, 19 March.

Despite this minor inconvenience, members of the College community, friends and the general public were still treated to a stimulating array of presentations which most found to be very entertaining and informative.

The night's programme offered by the Astronomical Society of Western Australia, included several multi-media slide presentations, static displays and interactive activities. Members of the Society set up their telescopes on the lawn in front of the Theatre foyer. Whilst there were no celestial bodies on which to focus, many interested people eagerly took the opportunity to inspect the range of sophisticated equipment which had been provided.

The night was still successful and almost five hundred people attended. The Astronomical Society of Western Australia and All Saints' College wish to thank all those who attended. We wish to especially acknowledge the support of the following:

- Staff — Joy O'Grady, Elizabeth Harrison, Tom Rennick, Tony Dale and Wendy Gratwick.
- The many helpers from the Parents' and Friends' Society.

We plan to hold another Astronomy Night in about two years. Again, thank you to all concerned and remember you can time travel every night with a deck chair, a pair of binoculars and a clear sky.

A leaflet giving details of the Arts Foundation Programme for 1994 has recently been distributed to members of the College community. The programme this year includes two resident artists, exhibitions, concerts and many other special events.

At the beginning of Term Two, Peter Kovacsy, a distinguished wood craftsman will be working in the Design Technology Department. He will be producing a range of turned wood items, instructing students and other interested members of the community in the techniques he employs.

Peter lives and works in Pemberton, a centre with a growing reputation for craft work. He has gained a number of significant awards for excellence in the field of wood turning. Exhibitions throughout Western Australia have made him a well-respected figure on the local craft scene. This reputation has spread both to other centres in Australia and internationally. His work is well documented in many publications, the most recent being Craft Arts International, March 1993.

We are extremely fortunate to gain the services of Peter Kovacsy and although his residency will be very short, we feel sure his presence will be influential in directing students in this fascinating area of craft. During his stay, Peter will give an evening lecture and slide show of his work and conduct a weekend work shop. Later in the year, we are planning an exhibition of his work in our Gallery.
residency, Sarah has been commissioned jointly by the College Arts Foundation and the Friends of Music, to write a work for the College Orchestra which will be performed later this year. She will also run a series of Performing Arts work shops which will be given to members of the public, as well as students from All Saints'.

A new Media Studies initiative in the English Department will introduce the art of film making to Year Nine students.

Transperth Posters is the title of the travelling exhibition which will be shown in our Gallery from August 7 to 19. This is made possible through our status as a Category B Gallery by the National Exhibitions Touring Structure for Western Australia (NETS).

The Transperth Posters, a major public art project initiated by Transperth through Westrail, created for the new Perth to Joondalup Railway Line in 1992. The twenty-seven posters in this exhibition were produced by Western Australian writers and visual artists, some working with community groups. These works demonstrate how a government organisation can support the development of art, implement a public art project of cultural relevance, and at the same time, enhance their own corporate identity.

The opening of the exhibition will coincide with a Music on the South Bank Concert featuring the Midland Brick Brass Band. This concert is being organised by the Friends of Music in conjunction with the Arts Foundation. Details regarding ticket sales will be published at a later date.

In addition to these special events, the Arts Foundation will continue to sponsor the creative writing competition and purchase works of art from the Annual Art Exhibition of student work which this year will open on Friday, 28 October.

As you can see, this will be another busy year for the Arts Foundation in its aim to foster the development of Fine Arts and Creative and Performing Arts within the College community. It is an exciting and varied programme and one which we hope you will support during the year. We will provide further details of each event through Parent Newsletters and future College Quartermasters.

Dance 1994

1994 is shaping up to be an exciting year in Dance at All Saints' College. Planning for the South West Dance Festival in June is under way and many students are busy sharing ideas for the ASC Dance Concert later in the year.

The extra-curricular programme is in full force, with the Junior School Dance group meeting each Monday afternoon to rehearse their jungle theme dance. The early risers in the Senior School attend a Jazz Ballet class once a week, whilst the beginners learn to appreciate just how talented the Jackson family are. The advanced group is being challenged by professional dance instructor, Raelene Moore. Amidst many smiles and abounding energy, all involved in the programme are improving their coordination, flexibility and fitness.

The 1994 Triple M Rock Eisteddfod has already shown the potential to be the most exciting yet. Over seventy students auditioned for parts in the production to be entered by All Saints'. An additional twenty students are eager to be in the back stage crew. However, perhaps the most exciting event in this year's Eisteddfod is the inclusion of five boys in the cast. Whilst the entire cast currently rehearse one afternoon a week, certain members are putting in extra time to polish their routine. "Keep it up guys!"

The Rock Eisteddfod Committee for this year includes:

Elizabeth Marsh (Production Assistant)
Olivia Carter (Creative Design)
Joanna Kent (Fund-Raising)
Simone Batt (Choreography)
Kate Bevilacqua (Finance)
Yos Jusuf (Stage Crew Manager)

RACHAEL HOGG
As a 1991 graduate, I am presently studying third year Arts at UWA, with a double major in Anthropology and English. Although this is an interesting and enjoyable course, I cannot see this Arts Degree as the avenue to fruitful employment, which does not really concern me at the moment. But it is a bit of a worry when at nineteen, I still don’t know what I want to be when I grow up! Perhaps belong to as many committees and organisations as possible! However I feel very honoured to be re-elected as President of the FSA. I know as we develop a strong former students’ base, it will be coupled with a strong former students’ tradition and I look forward to being a part of it.

GEMMA ARNOLD
After graduating from All Saints’ College in 1991, I entered Curtin University to study for a Bachelor of Commerce Degree. I am currently in my third year of a Public Relations and Marketing double major. At present I am working at Activ Foundation on the 1994 City to Surf Fun Run for my final year project.

CLAIRE YOUNG
Since leaving All Saints’ in 1992, I have completed one year of my Engineering Degree at UWA. In this my second year, I have chosen to major in Civil Engineering. As well as coping with a heavy study schedule, I find time to meet up with friends at some of Perth’s night spots.

MARK DOMINY
I was a foundation student at All Saints’ College and have since become a member of the Former Students’ Association Executive and a representative to the College Board of Management. I have worked with MLC Life, Bell Group, EDP Supply Company and for the last five years with BHP Iron Ore. For most of this time, I have specialised in the area of supply and logistics, completing a Diploma in Supply Management in 1992 and currently studying for a Bachelor of Business Degree part-time. I hold the position of Systems Administrator in charge of BHP’s computerised materials and management system. Recently engaged to Tanja Katch (a hairdresser) we are currently building our own house in Kinross as ‘owner builders’.

NATALIE COSSILL
Currently in my second year of Physiotherapy, I spend most of my days studying dead bodies, learning to massage and struggling to stay awake in my lectures. Most nights I can be found either studying, meeting up with my old ASC buddies, or working as an Executive Computer Assistant (!) at Video City.

EMMA HERPS
I graduated from All Saints’ in 1991 and am currently studying second year Journalism at Curtin, which I really love, hoping to be successful (and rich) as a journo some day. I spend most of my spare time shopping, sleeping and catching up with friends. I am really looking forward to my new role as Junior Vice-President of the FSA in 1994.
John Beechen (1986 Graduate)

Greetings from America! I am currently living in Columbia, the State Capital of South Carolina, having just completed my MBA Degree at the University of South Carolina. This was the heartland of the Confederates in the US Civil War and the "redneck" attitude remains largely intact today. The State is very beautiful, from the old weather board double story houses to the "woods" which surround Columbia and which provide the locals with their favourite sport — shooting! Despite my tone, the people here are very friendly, but somewhat conservative in their values. I live on campus, which provides for a great social life! The city is small, but 40,000 students create a vibrant atmosphere with lots of sport and, of course, night life. The campus is more like a suburb, about the size of UWA, Curtin and Murdoch put together.

So how did I end up here? After escaping from All Saints' I went straight to Curtin University for a three-year Business Degree, majoring in Information Systems. I then went to work, firstly for the Building Management Authority for two and a half years, and then to a computer vendor called Consultech for seven months. I also ran a small business venture with another Curtin graduate in computer systems development and consultancy in my non-working hours. After waking one morning and realising that I no longer enjoyed my work, I decided to go back to University and have some fun. After starting my Degree at Murdoch University, I applied for an exchange programme with the University of South Carolina and here I am!

My girlfriend Laura (pictured with me) and I met last September and have been inseparable ever since. Laura is from Buffalo, New York and also serves as my translator when McDonalds is unable to understand my Australian accent at the drive through window. We spent New Year in New York City, visiting landmarks and experiencing the rush that is New York. We plan to visit New Orleans in February for the Mardi Gras and Disneyworld in Orlando, Florida, before I continue my world trip to London and Europe. I plan to return to Perth in June and hopefully still have enough money to get back to the USA so that Laura and I can live happily ever after.

To those of you who have not yet had the opportunity to travel the world, I recommend that you do it. I have met more people, seen and done more things in the last few months than ever before. It is truly the experience of a lifetime.

Best wishes to you all.

Karen Golding

I left All Saints' College in 1989 and went straight to Curtin University to study Design for three years. After a slight detour to Europe, I graduated at the end of 1992. I'm now a full-time Graphic Designer for a company in Subiaco and trying to get some freelance photography going on the side. This is my fourth year in the FSA, my second as Secretary.

Joshua Hayes

Some may remember me (or be trying to forget me) as a former member of the Student Exec and Year Twelve in 1993, having spent five years at All Saints'. I am currently at UWA studying Science.
BINDI FENN

It is with great difficulty that I explain three years to you in several paragraphs, so much has happened. However, it is a pleasure to share some of my experiences.

I am a 1990 All Saints' College graduate. Having completed my studies at ASC, I began studying Economics at UWA, with mind you, an unconvincing desire to do so. Fortunately, six months into first year, the picture became very clear... I just could not continue to do something if my heart wasn't in it... I left uni and decided a year away was in order to organise my thoughts.

The six months which followed were passed working seven days a week and studying three evenings a week, my intentions being to 'Nanny' in Italy for a year.

Having completed a Childcare course and having raised enough money, I left Perth — destination Milan, Italy where there was a family awaiting my arrival. Unfortunately my first placement in Italy was a disaster and after a few months I plucked up courage and decided to look for something else. Fortunately, a fellow student offered me a room and this was a great help as I felt so lonely and so far from home.

With a determined effort, I found myself a very appealing position, where I would be working for a single English mother and her son of eight years.

The next year or so was very enjoyable. Weekends were spent skiing in Switzerland or Austria in the winter and summer weekends were passed along the Italian Riviera. The highlight of my travels with the family was a working week riding camels in the Sahara Desert in Morocco. For the period of time that I was working for this family I had full responsibility of the child and the house. It was a lot of hard work, but very satisfying and rewarding.

Today I find myself teaching English privately to students at various levels and working part-time in a cafe. I share an apartment with a Danish girl in the city of Milan and live a very full and exciting lifestyle.

A few of my travel highlights in the past two years have been: the unforgettable countryside and number of pints of Guinness in Ireland; the beauty of Paris; the madness and many sleepless nights backpacking and island hopping in the Greek islands; the snowfalls and ski resorts in Switzerland and Austria; and finally, the famous camel ride in the Sahara Desert. My travels have also taken me extensively throughout Italy.

Now that I am in Perth on holiday I look back on what I have done since leaving school and I must say I am quite proud of myself. Although I went through some very difficult times in Italy, I made it. I'm still there in Milan, self-supporting and loving life. Where it will all lead I cannot say, but having seen where it has passed I'm looking forward to seeing where it's going.

Good luck to all students. Making a decision is the hardest thing in life, ensuring it is the right decision is even harder. If your heart is in it, you can't go wrong.

ENGINEERING AWARD

A former student from 1993, Bradley Huppatz, returned to the College recently to receive the Woodside Offshore Petroleum Year Twelve Engineering Prize and First Year Scholarship. The certificate was presented by Ms Cotilde Demasi, Recruitment and Administration Officer with Woodside Offshore Petroleum Pty Ltd. Bradley is enrolled in the Faculty of Engineering at the University of Western Australia.

LANCE AVEY

Since graduating from All Saints' College in 1993, Lance has commenced an apprenticeship in Aircraft Engineering, and is taking lessons towards his aircraft pilot's license. He recently completed his first 10,000 feet accelerated free-fall sky dive.
Library Appeal

The children of the Junior School are actively supporting the College Library Appeal over the first half of 1994. Years Two and Three conducted a cake stall in Term One and were successful in raising $168.00 for the Appeal. Mrs Sofi Marks, a Year Three parent, was a tireless worker for the cake stall and she is pictured with class representatives in the accompanying photograph.

The students of Year Six have organised a recycling project involving egg cartons and ice-cream containers. This is an environmentally friendly fund-raising venture and will be used to develop the Library’s environmental resources.

Next term the other classes in the Junior School will organise activities to support the Appeal.

In order to encourage reading, all students from Years Two to Seven have been encouraged to participate in our “Read-a-Thon”. Cards have been distributed to all students and they will be seeking sponsorship from relatives and friends for their reading efforts. It has been encouraging to see such enthusiasm for this project, which will continue through Term Two. Rather than award prizes on the basis of amount raised on number of books read, there will be a lucky draw of cards at the conclusion of the “Read-a-Thon”.

The support of parents, students and staff in these fund-raising ventures has been most gratifying.

Mrs J Andrews
Junior School Teacher/Librarian

Friends of Music

The Friends of Music Committee is an active group of parents which is working in a number of ways to support music in the College. Funds are raised to support musical activities and we arrange concerts to give our budding musicians experience in public performance.

Last year $5000 was raised to purchase two Yamaha pianos for the Junior School. In the main, funds came from cake stalls, raffles, suppers and the sale of Silvio’s Pizza fridge magnets. The support of parents was very important in achieving this goal and their enthusiastic response to our many requests for assistance was really appreciated.

Our 1993 Committee included Frank McKinnell (Chairman), Geoff Wise (Treasurer), Ruth Bailey (Head of Music), Margaret Whitmore (Secretary), Jan Barratt (Representative to the P&F), Val Payne, Margaret James, Peggy Chiu, Pam Vance and Peter Flottman. We are pleased to welcome two new faces this year in Sandy Potter and Barbara Chaffe.

This year our efforts will be directed towards having an Artist-in-Residence in the Music Department for four weeks during Term Three and organising a professional concert at which some of our own students will perform. We feel that these activities will be of great benefit to Music students. Our priority is the advancement of Music in the College, together with the enrichment of students’ musical awareness.

Teddy Bears’ Picnic

On Friday, 25 February Pre-Primary and Year One students invited their parents to join them and their teddies for a Teddy Bears’ Picnic.

It was a very hot and sunny day as hungry, excited children and bears descended on the shaded area around the barbecues to meet up with their parents and enjoy the picnic lunch. The parents provided plates of delicious food to more than satisfy the needs of even the greediest bear.

It was a happy occasion where parents, children and staff mingled and made new friends and acquaintances in the relaxed atmosphere. It was especially pleasing to see fathers who had managed to find their way to the woods for the big surprise.

Many thanks go to those who assisted with the setting up and clearing away.

Gargantuans from the Garden

Year Three students at All Saints’ College have been working hard to prepare their entry for the ‘Build-a-Bug’ competition sponsored by The West Australian newspaper.

Under the direction of their teacher, Mrs Sue Gipson, the students spent many hours carrying out their own research into the case moth. Contestants were required to build a life-like bug from materials available to them. The exhibition, photographed, was carefully packed and taken to the Scitech Discovery Centre to be judged as part of the ‘Gargantuans from the Garden’ section.
Students' Fun Run Efforts Rewarded

I trust that at some time everyone has had the pleasure of receiving a gift unexpectedly, or "out of the blue". Then you would understand the surprise and joy we felt when we received the news late last year that All Saints' College students, through their participation in the Fun Run, had raised more money than any other school for the Perth City Mission!

As a thank you to the students who achieved this feat, the College would receive a gift of Encyclopaedia Britannica for the Senior library.

Why was this gift unexpected? We were completely unaware that there was a "competition"; as far as we were concerned, students had sought pledges from family and friends and had run in the Fun Run in order to support a worthy cause. We had been pleased to hand over our cheque, knowing that our contributions to the Perth City Mission might provide assistance in a number of ways: helping to feed hungry young people or enabling others to build up job-seeking skills or hiring a counsellor to be available late into the night . . .

Father Terry Curtis, staff adviser to the Student Council's Community Services sub-committee, and three students, Jadanne Heuchan (Year 11), Adam Tassell (Year 10) and Mark La Brooy (Year 5) accepted the gift in December at one of the last receptions to be hosted by the Lord Mayor of Perth.

The encyclopaedias were on the library shelves for the beginning of the 1994 academic year, a welcome addition to College resources.

Assistant Principal (Curriculum)

Farewell to Robyn Heuchan

The College will miss the smiling face of Robyn Heuchan who resigned from her duties as Canteen Assistant at the conclusion of Term One. Robyn has worked in the Canteen for seven years and has decided to take a well-earned rest. Her son Ashley is in Year Eleven and Robyn expects to maintain her association with All Saints', working in a voluntary capacity. We offer our best wishes for her "retirement!"

College Colours

The following students have been awarded College Colours for their achievements in, and contributions to, the extra-curricular programme of the College:

Simone Batt    Dance
Kate Bevilaqua  Swimming
Kellie Burgess  Swimming
Tennille Cooper Touch Football
Bradley Hogan-Smith  Swimming
Elizabeth Marsh  Dance
Marnie Peacock  Sport
Trevor Simpson  Cricket
Damian Smith    Swimming
First Aid at All Saints’ College

The newly developed Year Eleven Outdoor Education programme has provided a wonderful opportunity for the students to become better equipped in the outdoor environment. In order to prepare them to meet the physical, mental and emotional challenges when participating as effective members of expeditions, they must learn survival awareness skills. There is always an element of risk and danger whenever one tackles outdoor expeditions, there is a need to be prepared for the possibility of accident or injury.

Term One this year saw the students undertake an intensive St John Ambulance Senior First Aid Certificate. The eighteen-hour programme, offered to students aged sixteen and older, teaches the essentials of first aid, with emphasis on the practical aspects so the participant will be able to use his/her abilities to improvise in an emergency situation.

The class achieved exceptional results, both in the practical sessions and the theory test.

The St John Ambulance Senior First Aid Certificates were awarded to the class at the end of the term, with a one hundred percent success rate.

As we embark on our next unit of abseiling and rock climbing, it is with confidence that the entire class will know how to cope in trying circumstances. I know some of them are very keen to put their new-found skills into practice. So . . . if you’re injured, call a Year Eleven Outdoor Education student. They’re fully qualified now!

Zimbabwe, Zambia, Botswana, South Africa, Lesotho and Swaziland. Who’s dreaming of holiday destinations in southern Africa? Last year I was fortunate to be granted leave from All Saints’ College, and my husband Anthony and I had four leisurely months roaming about these parts of a magnificent continent.

For people with an interest in the natural world and the associated impact of human inhabitation, Africa is an eye opening and thoroughly stimulating experience. After taking part in an organised eleven-day safari in premier game reserves in western and northern Zimbabwe, we quickly learnt about other great areas where we could commune with nature.

In Botswana we hired a local guide to show us the great Okavango Delta. Here we were policed through pristine waters in a dugout wooden canoe. Another unforgettable experience was in Natal, South Africa, where we did a four-day hike through the Umfolozi Game Reserve. This gave us the opportunity to see the rare and highly endangered black and white rhinos at close quarters (including one incident that had us head for trees), as well as lions hunting unaware of our immediate presence.

Since returning to All Saints’ I have had the opportunity to share my experiences with many. Interested secondary students attended a lunch time viewing of slides. Six of the primary classes invited me as a guest to classes where I have talked to them about my experiences and have shown them slides of African animals and the lifestyles of some of the people.

As I look to the future, my Biology classes can expect to be delivered snippets of information which may be used as examples in future test and exam questions. For the interested traveller I will happily offer advice as to some wonderful destinations to visit so that you may also enjoy the current diversity of African life. Perhaps I can even organise an African equivalent of Japanese, French and Italian tours!

Inter-House Swimming Carnival

With the creation of two new Houses, Cowan and Durack, the 1994 Swimming Carnival at the Superdrome promised to be the most intriguing in the history of All Saints’ College.

The increase from four to six Houses meant that many strong swimmers had chosen to change Houses. In addition, it was obvious to all concerned that the opportunity to swim in an event was open to a far greater number of students. Consequently, prior to the start of the first event there were many predictions as to the likely winner. In fact, for the greater part of the day, all Houses had a chance of winning.

The end result saw Stirling emerge as winner, closely followed by a determined Murdoch team.

FINAL RESULTS:
- Stirling: 1384 points
- Murdoch: 1360 points
- O’Connor: 1333 points
- Forrest: 1319 points
- Cowan: 1254 points
- Durack: 1231 points

Swimming 1994

Our 1994 Swim season began before the school year was underway and the two weeks of holiday training really paid dividends. There was strong student support for these sessions and they continued to swim enthusiastically for the remainder of the Term.

The team captains, Darren McCoil and Rebecca Joyce provided excellent leadership and they were ably assisted by the vice-captains, Damian Smith and Kate Bevilaqua. The deputy vice-captains, Kellie Burgess and John Irvine also provided invaluable support.

Our swimming squads represented the College at the State Relay Championships, the Quadrangular Swim Meet and the ACC ‘A’ Division Carnival. On each occasion the students proved to be exemplary ambassadors for the College. They are to be congratulated for their excellent performances.

We celebrated the end of the season with a barbecue for two hundred swimmers and family members. So many parents and members of staff have assisted throughout the Term to make the 1994 season our most successful to date. On behalf of the College, I extend my sincere thanks to our supporters, and of course the swimmers, who performed so creditably this year.

RUGBY PLAYERS WANTED

Any former student interested in playing in a Former Student XV versus First XV Rugby match to take place in Term Three, please contact Mark Stapleton at the College on 332 5344. Date and time will be confirmed later. This is a great opportunity for former College Rugby players to prove that age and treachery are more than a match for youth and enthusiasm.

SAILING SUCCESS

Former student, Scott Olsen, recently won the National 420 Yachting Championships in Melbourne. Scott, a third year Engineering student at UWA, won the State Championships before heading to Victoria and subsequently winning a chance to compete in the World Titles in 1995. His younger brother Grant, completed Year Twelve at All Saints’ last year.
